

EAP1101 - Reading and Editing Strategies II

Credits:	3 (3/0/0)
Description:	This course is for students in their second semester of study in the English for Academic Purposes (EAP) cohort and pairs with ENGL1101: College Writing and an academic content course. Students will continue to develop language skills necessary to read and understand a variety of texts. The course also will continue development of editing skills and build research skills, including the critical analysis of sources.
Prerequisites:	• EAP1001 and ENGL0097
Corequisites:	• ENGL1101
Pre/Corequisites * :
Competencies:	<ol> <li>Explain the meaning of texts through a variety of activities: small-group discussion, presentations, written summaries, etc.</li> <li>Describe individual reading processes, including tasks used before, during and after reading.</li> <li>Build understanding of cultural contexts of reading to develop and activate cultural schemata.</li> <li>Combine and apply appropriate reading and study strategies in preparation for a variety of assessments.</li> <li>Locate sources for research purposes using a variety of search methods.</li> <li>Assess the value of sources for use in academic research projects.</li> <li>Choose appropriate methods of integrating sources into writing: summarizing, paraphrasing or quoting.</li> <li>Apply editing skills that enhance style and voice in writing.</li> <li>Explain individual writing process, including choices in revising and editing multiple drafts of formal writing.</li> </ol>
MnTC goal areas:	None

*Can be taking as a Prerequisite or Corequisite.