

ELL0060 - English Language Learner Reading

| Credits:           | 3 (3/0/0)   |
|--------------------|---|
| Description:       | This reading course is for non-native learners of English. Students will learn the skills and vocabulary necessary to read college-level materials with emphasis given to effective note taking and summarizing. Students will engage in frequent large and small group discussions of reading material and be exposed to a variety of reading strategies.  |
| Prerequisites:     |   |
| Corequisites:      |   |
| Pre/Corequisites*: |   |
| Competencies:      | <ol> <li>Demonstrate comprehension of readings by completing specific tasks: exercises, outlines, charts, graphs, and summaries.</li> <li>Develop note-taking skills of key points of reading.</li> <li>Articulate the meaning of key vocabulary verbally and in writing.</li> <li>Analyze written structures for context clues showing word meaning, comparison, sequence, and summary.</li> <li>Apply active reading methods.</li> <li>Understand a number of reading methods.</li> <li>Participate in group discussions and understand effective group work especially acknowledging the opinions of others and identifying threads of conversation.</li> <li>Express oral opinions to represent the perspective of the individual and others.</li> <li>Become aware of issues of academic integrity when summarizing or paraphrasing others' writings.</li> </ol> |
| MnTC goal areas:   | None  |

*Can be taking as a Prerequisite or Corequisite.